Best mommy blogs

Whether you're cooped up on bed rest or just put baby down for a nap, blogs can be an endless source of entertainment, information and even camaraderie (until baby wakes up, at least). But with millions of blogs out there, where does one begin? Here are some of our favorites to get you started.

Celebrity gossip imnotobsessed.com

Well, maybe just a little. For daily posts about who's dating, who's expecting and who's in rehab, check out I'm Not Obsessed! You'll find plenty of photos, too—because what better to prove Angelina's pregnancy than a paparazzi-fied image of the bump itself?

Fashion momfinds.com

You barely have time to shower, let alone shop. Thankfully, the online shopping expert behind momfinds.com scours the web daily in search of the best apparel and beauty products for both you and baby. Showered or not, you'll at least be stylish.

Food underthehighchair.com

You know, the place where most of the food ends up. To commiserate over the inevitable, and to steal some of this mom and chef extraordinaire's delicious recipes (or at least drool over the yummy photos!), check out her site, Under the High Chair. Good grub guaranteed; clean floor unlikely.

Design designmom.com

At Design Mom, blogger/designer/art director/mother of five(!) writes about her favorite ways of obtaining child-friendly and functional design while maintaining stylish and serene style. Be inspired by her posts about handcrafted furniture, cool toys, creative art projects and more.

Technology techmamas.typepad.com

TechMamas keeps you posted on the best photo sharing websites, handiest online organizers and greatest gizmos and gadgetry out there. Whether wi-fi and wiki sound like familiar terms or fictional gibberish, the TechMamas blog has valuable tips and tricks for mommies at every degree of geek.
